

NOTICE: Expected Delays in Dallas Due to Severe Weather

Dear Business Partner,

The weather forecast for the Dallas, TX area for tomorrow, Thursday, February 3rd is freezing rain, snow accumulations and icy road conditions. Many trucking companies have already informed to STG Dallas facility that they will not be operating tomorrow. In addition to it, most airlines have canceled flights into and out of DFW and all schools in the metropolitan area have announced that they will be closed.

STG Dallas is closely monitoring the rapidly approaching severe winter weather and will make a determination either later today or early tomorrow morning whether it will be operating with reduced staffing on Thursday or if the STG Dallas facility will close due to the unsafe weather conditions.

Please advise your clients of potential delays.